Night-Raiders.

For several weeks past, every few nights the citizens who live 'and sleep over the streets, are kept awake by a gang of boys whistling, singing, yelling, beating on dry goods boxes, etc. This usually begins about 11 o'clock at night, and is kept up ad infinitum, We have no doubt this is very pleasant to boys who have parents able to clothe and feed them, and who can sleep all the next day, if necessary, but to the sick, and the poor, who have to put in about ten hours each day to make a living, it is not quite so funny to be thus disturbed of their rest. We have been furnished with a list of these noise-makers with a request to publish it, but for the sake of their parents and a belief that this notice will have the A job lot of corsets, napkins, band- desired effect, we have declined to
